

Sit down. Stand up.
Do both at once.

Whether you're sitting, standing or leaning, the Aeris Muvman is the standing seat that helps promote good posture. With its pivotal joint close to the floor, the Aeris Muvman ensures that it's your chair that inclines, not your back. The adjustable height guarantees optimal distance to the work surface and ensures you can stand or sit comfortably. All this helps to ensure a perfect body posture. And when you're standing, the weight is taken off your back and legs.

Stand or sit. With the Aeris Muvman, the choice is yours.

The Aeris Muvman ensures you're awake to the tips of your toes.

The adjustable seat with Flexzone® technology promotes good blood circulation right down to your toes. The fixed base is fitted with non-slip rubber, providing a secure grip during movement (and it protects the floor too).

Good health relies on good posture.

The Aeris Muvman's flexible central column promotes constant micro movements to help keep the intervertebral discs supple. The chair's pivotal joint being so close to the floor ensures you remain in an upright position relative to the work surface. Supported this way, you can lean comfortably and safely in all directions.

Everybody welcome.

No other standing chair allows such a wide variety of height settings. Whatever your body size and whatever the height of the surface you are working at, sitting and standing positions can be adjusted to suit you individually. And thanks to its lightweight design, the chair can be easily moved around the office.

One chair, many possibilities. Use the Aeris Muvman at your height-adjustable desk, in meetings, at counters or in the kitchen. Also available as Aeris Muvman Industry for production lines and in laboratories. Also available with ESD protection.

Muvman Industry (ESD)

Each chair is handmade in Germany with dedicated care and precision.

It was about time to reinvent the way we work and live.
So that's just what we did.

The issue: We sit too much and don't move enough.
This is detrimental to our health. The lack of activity
robs us of our concentration, energy and creativity,
even after a short amount of time.

The solution: Aeris is driven by the goal of keeping our bodies in constant movement. Our products and concepts contribute to an active and healthy lifestyle.
They enable movement in precisely the areas where it's least expected, but where it's needed the most – when sitting.

We are your secret ingredient for a more active,
healthier and subsequently happier life.
